Scientist

August 5, 2020, Sharif worked with Christian on the same team

Christian is a highly adaptable individual with a unique set of transferable skills that enable him to assimilate new knowledge quickly, may it be scientific or technical and apply it to a novel field. Christian is also creative and has a strong sense of presentation. I have directly collaborated with me in the past and have always found him to be courteous and professional. In short, Christian is an excellent individual with a good taste in proper coffee and the mental aptitude for any task put in front of him. I would not hesitate to collaborate with him again if the opportunity presents itself.
